Hello Fairman Families,

What a beautiful sunny afternoon after such a strange weather week! Lots of rain this week, perfect for our flowers and grass.

I spoke to some parents of students in varying grades this week and heard that they are struggling to keep their children engaged in remote learning, especially in the younger grades. We certainly recognize that this kind of learning is very difficult for students and that the amount of time spent in front of a computer screen is not optimal. Please do the best that you can (both students and parents) and do what is best for your family. If your child needs a break from remote learning for part of a day, then go ahead and give them that break (and ensure that the break does not involve screen time). We all have our good days and our not-so-good days and that is perfectly okay!

My suggestion to you would be to have your child involved in physical activity throughout the day. This week we celebrated Mental Health Week. We know that exercise relieves stress, improves your memory, helps you sleep better, and boosts your overall mood. Remember student well-being MATTERS to us!

Take care and stay safe,

Sandra Makris

ANNUAL IPRC REVIEW

Your child's special education needs must be reviewed at least once a year at an annual review of placement. You will be notified of this in writing.

Please click on the following link to let us know whether you will be attending your child's Annual Identification Placement Review Committee meeting

<https://forms.gle/kdQQG3DcWtUHT75>

What happens at the Identification, Placement and Review Committee (IPRC) meeting?

The IPRC is intended to be a formal meeting. The purpose of the IPRC is to formally consider and document your child's strengths and needs.

A regular classroom placement (mainstream placement) should be considered as the first option. Before recommending a placement in a special education class (small class placement) the IPRC must decide whether this placement will meet your child's needs and be consistent with your wishes.

At the IPRC, the chairperson will ask that a summary of strengths and needs be presented to the committee. Parents will have been offered an opportunity to review this information prior to the meeting.

The IPRC will review all available information about your child. The members will:

- consider and educational assessment of your child;
- consider, subject to the provisions of the Health Care Consent Act, 1996, a health or psychological assessment of your child conducted by a qualified practitioner, if they feel that such as assessment is required to make a correct identification or placement decision;
- interview your child, with your consent if your child is less than 16 years of age, if they feel it would be useful to do so; and
- consider any information that you submit about your child or that your child submits if he or she is 16 years of age or older

The committee may discuss any proposal that has been made about a special education program or special education services for your child. Committee members will discuss any such proposal at your request or at the request of your child, if the child is 16 years of age or older.

Parents will be invited to ask questions and to join in the discussion.

A placement decision will usually be made immediately. In addition, an identification and placement decision will be formalized. The chairperson will explain it carefully.

Parents will be given a written record of the recommendations of the committee.
